Chapter 1 by Jasper Ralph

They came in a ship made of a material unknown to anyone on earth. We were all so amazed at the shiny ship that we couldn't remind ourselves we were being invaded by alien life forms from seven-hundred-sextillion light years away.

We never got to see daylight after their arrival, We were turned into slaves. One of the people in our unit was taken away and experimented on. When they brought him back to work with the others, he was different. He had no face.

We don't know what's up on the surface anymore. We asked the man with no face, but he can't talk.

Maybe they destroyed everything. Maybe they destroyed some of the stuff above ground, but left some. Whatever they did, there's almost no chance we would live to see it. Well, some chance.

We had an escape plan.
